NATURE'S CALENDAR

Thousands of people across Britain are now recording nature's calendar as part of the UK Phenology Network to see what effect climate change is having on our wildlife. The majority of plants and animals used in the national initiative, however, are not found in Shetland. Therefore the Shetland Biological Records Centre, with assistance from Scottish Natural Heritage, has produced a leaflet that is relevant to people in Shetland so that we too, can participate in this important project.

A Charitable Trust set up to conserve and enhance Shetland's heritage.
